Pedal Tree – Little W. Harmonica Booster Husky Mics – Custom Mini Bullet Harmonica Microphone

I have a little pair here that really packs a punch:

In terms of minimalism, the combination of the "Little W. Harmonica Booster" from Pedal Tree, together with a "Mini-Harp-Bullet" from the manufacturer "Husky Mics and Harp Gear" from the Netherlands, is a really powerful pair!

The "Little W. Harmonica Booster" is handmade in Germany and comes in a super small format. In addition to authentic Chicago harmonica sound à la Little Walter, this little guy offers an on/off switch and a hi/mid/low toggle switch on the top. And on the long side, a rotary control allows you to adjust the strength of the booster setting. The booster can be operated either with a mains adapter or with a 9V block battery using the "whip" supplied. Whether used as a booster in front of an amp or on the pedalboard, the Little W. can be operated just as well on its own on an active monitor as it can directly on the PA. The "Little W. Harmonica Booster" delivers an official Chicago vintage sound and hardly misses anything in terms of basic functionality!

The handmade harmonica mini-bullet microphone from the "Robert Huiskes" manufactory is a real hoot!

Thanks to its really compact size, which literally disappears in your hand, even for a mini-bullet (making it ideal for children's hands), it is super-dynamic to play and also great for cupping. The volume control built into the model on the back of the microphone adds to the fun of playing! The sound of the microphone sounds monstrously good for this "dwarf"!

So I really have to say, whether as an official-sounding backup set, for general tour use or for sessions and at home, this duo is a real insider tip when it comes to really fat, authentic sound in true pocket size!

And when placed next to each other, together they come close to the dimensions of a slightly larger smartphone.

PRODUCT REVIEW

Aaaaabut these products, which are still lovingly handcrafted and also come with a great manufacturer service, should "in my opinion" be given a real chance in terms of the price-performance ratio!

Cheers
